1 About the Provider Notes

1.1 Introduction

1. The purpose of these Veterans and Veterans Families Counselling Service (Open Arms - Veterans & Families Counselling) Outreach Program Counsellor Provider Notes (the Notes) is to outline the terms of engagement and requirements for the provision of outreach program services to eligible Open Arms clients.
2. For the purpose of these Notes, an Outreach Program Counsellor (OPC) is an approved provider registered with Open Arms to deliver:
 - a. individual or couples, or family counselling sessions;
 - b. treatment group programs; or
 - c. clinical supervision
3. The Notes explain the expectations of Open Arms and the procedures to be followed when providing Open Arms outreach program services in accordance with the following legislation:
 - a. Veterans' Entitlements Act 1986 \(VEA\); and/or
 - b. Military Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 2004 \(MRCA\).

collectively referred to as "the Acts".

1.2 The Commissions and the Department of Veterans' Affairs

1. The Repatriation Commission and the Military Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission, collectively referred to as "the Commissions", administer the Acts. The Department of Veterans' Affairs (DVA) undertakes the administration of the Acts on behalf of the Commissions.
2. Under the Acts, the Commissions are authorised to prepare legislative instruments called the Treatment Principles for each Act as documents legally binding on providers, entitled persons and the Commissions. The Treatment Principles set out the circumstances under which financial responsibility is accepted for counselling referred to in paragraph 7.7A of the Treatment Principles.

1.3 Status of the Notes

1. In addition to the Treatment Principles, these Notes, combined with the Open Arms policies, are a legally binding document setting out the terms of engagement and conditions under which OPCs may provide services to Open Arms referred clients.
2. OPCs are required to deliver services in accordance with the requirements set out in these Notes, the related Open Arms policies and as instructed during clinical induction.

1.4 Provider Notes and Compliance

1. Any breach of these Notes or the relevant policies may lead to action in accordance with the Treatment Principles, such as non-payment of claims or recovery of monies from claims previously paid or, where serious breaches are identified, the matter may be referred to the Commonwealth Director of Public Prosecutions.
2. Relevant professional boards may also be advised in serious cases of inappropriate conduct by an OPC. Serious or repeated breaches of these Notes or the relevant policies may result in the termination of this agreement.

3. Open Arms conducts periodic, randomised audits of selected client or group files within the secure Client Management System (CMS), and of supervision reports. The purposes of audits are to ensure that OPCs are billing Open Arms only for sessions that they conduct and are compliant with these Notes and Open Arms policies and standards of professional practice. Open Arms will contact an OPC to follow up any discrepancies observed during an audit.

1.5 Amendment of the Notes

1. These Notes and policies may be amended from time to time by Open Arms, consistent with any legal obligations. Any amendments made to these Notes or the policies will be dated and Open Arms will undertake to ensure OPCs are made aware of the amendments in advance of them taking effect. This will be undertaken through consultation with representatives from respective professional associations.

2 About Open Arms – Veterans & Families Counselling (Open Arms)

2.1 Open Arms

1. Military-aware mental health counselling and support is available through Open Arms. This may include access to individual, couples and family counselling, care coordination, peer support, mental health training and group programs to all current and former members of the Australian Defence Force (ADF), who have at least one day continuous full time service (CFTS), including those referred under a service agreement with the Department of Defence. Open Arms clients being provided services from an Open Arms OPC are also eligible for other services provided by Open Arms.
2. Partners and dependents of eligible veterans are also eligible for free, confidential mental health services and support for issues related to their partner/parent's service. Parents and siblings of veterans are eligible in selected circumstances.
3. More information on Open Arms services, programs and client eligibility is available by contacting Open Arms on 1800 011 046 or www.OpenArms.gov.au

2.2 Open Arms Outreach Program

1. The Open Arms Outreach Program is designed to increase service accessibility for Open Arms clients. It establishes a network of accredited mental health clinicians, engaged through statutory registration, to support the delivery of services on behalf of Open Arms across Australia.
2. Open Arms statutory registration allows mental health providers who are eligible to claim for treatment services under the Medicare 'Better Access' Scheme to provide mental health services to Open Arms clients under statutory registration provisions, without having to enter into a contract with Open Arms.

2.3 Determining Client Eligibility for Open Arms Services

1. Responsibility for determining client eligibility for Open Arms services rests with Open Arms. If a client who may be eligible for Open Arms services is otherwise receiving services from a mental health provider who is an Open Arms OPC, the OPC cannot predetermine Open Arms eligibility, and must not allow the client to expect eligibility, nor to commence the provision of services on behalf of Open Arms.

- Arms until Open Arms has determined eligibility and made a formal referral to the OPC. A breach of this condition may lead to termination of statutory registration with Open Arms.
2. It is recommended that the provider refer the potential client to Open Arms for determination of eligibility, intake assessment and possible referral back for services.
